

SCIENCE WITH THE ZOO

Sign up for this virtual series to learn how the Zoo uses science every day. Chat with keepers, conservationists, researchers and more!

The Fellowship of the Oryx (Sunday, September 27 at 1 p.m.)

Learn how accredited zoos are collaborating to bring scimitar-horned oryx and other rare animals back from the brink of extinction.

Stop Droplets and Roll (Sunday, October 25 at 1 p.m.)

Explore the science of epidemiology and its connection to wildlife.

Sharks and Rays—Oh, My! (Sunday, November 22 at 1 p.m.)

Slice through shark misconceptions with science and learn how to help elasmobranchs.

Sustainable Sea Turtles (Sunday, December 20 at 1 p.m.)

Visit our Sea Turtle Healing Center to take a deep dive into eco-friendly living.

Programs last 60–90 minutes and are designed for 12–17-year-olds. Cost for each program is $10 per household. Hosted and organized by the Zoo's teen conservation group.
